Subject: Upcoming Guidelines Custer Gallatin

Ma'am

Pertaining to new guidelines for Custer Gallatin, I would like to comment that during the Great Depression rural people in the Midwest hunted to virtual extinction deer and turkey. Bear disappeared long ago. All are repopulating. Because catastrophic economies will recur, it behooves wildlife guardians to help the last wild bison (aka Yellowstone) increase their tragically few numbers in the nation forests to avert extinction.

Thank you for indispensably needed leadership.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Drummond
