Comments:

I am certainly opposed to any possibility of any additional wilderness studies or non motorized areas being created in Montana or anywhere else in the United States

The vast amounts of wilderness Montana already possesses are grossly underused, while the motorized areas become increasingly crowded and populated. Taking more motorized use area away will further crowd the existing area that motorists currently have

In closing, there is more than enough wilderness area in the northwest for the amount of users that actually see it. Please don't entertain the thought of adding anymore

Thank you for your time and consideration
