Comments:

In support of Alternative D.

Without protection, the government will continue to harm and destroy the Yellowstone bison in its original range and habitat, and the species' habitat will continue to decline.

The Custer Gallatin National Forest and Region 1 must not abandon American bison to another regulatory scheme that does not sustain them on habitat held in public trust.

Excluding American bison from a significant portion of National Forest habitat and disrupting migration corridors is an ongoing threat to the viability and diversity of a truly unique population of migratory American bison remaining in the wild.
