Good Day! As a Tax Paying American Citizen, I am writing this email to voice my strong opposition for the taking of more public lands in the areas at stake near Bozeman MT to reform for wilderness and study.

Today in America, we as a society have become null and void to the Citizens Tax Paying Voice. In our rich history, our ancestors sailed across the ocean, against all odds to become free from an over taxed, strong willed, forceful reign in England. These folks left all they knew to pursue a life wanting freedom, integrity, love of country, and loyalty no matter what was the religion, nationality and more for its people. Their vision was great even though their numbers were small. Yet quickly the wonder of America, without the technologies of today spread far and wide, and it became more than a vision. Fiercely our people fought to protect all that was at hand. At one point we even had a Revolution War on our own soils to solidify what America was all about. Granted, our history could be considered murky and even hostile in some areas: we still adapted into the world we are today.

But sadly, the rights to access Public Lands for the tax paying American Citizen are constantly at stake for the groups who cant seem to see a picture well beyond what they fight for. Access to the back country for motorized sports in the winter disrupts far less wildlife and habitat areas than say hiking or photography of wildlife in the summer months. But way Beyond that, you have to look at the big picture and realize taking what people pay taxes on to access, yet continuing to federally tax them is thievery at its finest. When we attempt to do such acts, we travel to a point where we don't grow as a country; we revert to the very ways our founding fore fathers fought and opposed to flee from while forming the USA. We halt positive morale among masses of citizens, and create an unhappy nation. We are gaining speed daily towards this type of vibe when we allow clueless groups to come in and just start taking public lands with no real knowledge of what is or is not harmful to everyone and everything: The Land, The Wildlife, and WE THE TAXPAYING PEOPLE.

Furthermore, I pray for reconsideration and relief in granting lands to be taken as wilderness from motorized and non motorized sports alike in any season. Leave Public Lands in Public hands as it was intended. It is ok to be forceful with laws of the land: showing consequence to those who cannot respect shared areas by littering, not following noise ordinances, and other means necessary to keep the habitat safe for humans and animals alike. But to close access completely is deemed thievery of the tax paying, hard working American Citizens. I pray the decision at hand is a rational fair decision that is highly favored for the American Citizen to allow open access to the areas at hand. It is detrimental to human health to be able to teach our children it is OK to step away from gaming devices, cell phones and computers to pursue a love for the back country, and variable sports that allow us to gain all season access. The more land we take away from access of these lands to the public: the more we take from our youth now, and the generations to come. These irrational decisions take so much more from us than just the land at hand!!
