Hi ,My name is Scott Scheffler .I am a third generation native Montanan. I have worked, and played my entire life in the forest and back country. I started loosing my jobs in the timber industry about 35 years ago along with my access to public lands.So the so called environmental do goodders can stand back and collect there welfare checks ,and watch our timber burn up .So the working men and women can again pay the bills out of there paychecks, and property taxes.Can we afford to loose our motorized recreation in the Gallatin national forest or any other national forest for that matter.I believe there should be wilderness ,and we have millions of acres .I also believe we should manage what we have .We should take care of it .But we should also be able to use it .Me and my wife are in our mid fifties we still hike ,and are very active ,But we also like motorized recreation ,and we should be able to enjoy it as long as we are able .I say there are wild places that should be wilderness ,but why take away whats already been open to motorized use .Hell if thats the case burn the Yellowstone club and places like them ,Aren't they in the wilderness ?THINK ABOUT IT !!!!! Sincerlly Scott Scheffler
