Alternative D of the draft forest plan appears to provide proper protection for the little Wilderness that there is left.

The Peace and Quiet that we and everything needs has been overrun way too much already. We need to keep machinery out of the few places there are left available that allow us to be away from all the stinky noisy motor business already pervading the world.

People who want to run machines have TONS of places to do so. They do not need to destroy any more of the type of World that others of us prefer to visit.

I have lived in Montana many years and enjoy visiting there.
