Please strengthen Alternative D by setting strong standards to achieve the "desired condition" of viable, self-sustaining populations of American bison on the National Forest.

I urge you to list American bison as a species of conservation concern, reintroduce fire as a natural force in expanding habitat, and remove barriers to migration, securing habitat connectivity.

The best available science weighs in favor of listing American bison as a species of conservation concern because there is "substantial concern about the species' capability to persist over the long term" on the National Forest.
