Comments:

Since 1990 I have visited Montana 15 time for my summer vacations. I could not go the past 2 years because of injuries and family issues. I plan to go this summer and in succeeding summers.

I come to Montana to fly fish, hike and backpack. Therefore I believe that the national forests, which I visit when I come and which I am a part owner as a taxpayer, should be used primarily for "quiet" recreational activities such as hunting, fishing, hiking, camping, etc. Extractive industries such as mining, logging, grazing, and oil and gas drilling should be permitted only in those rare instances where they do not adversely affect "quiet" recreation. Therefore, I hope your revised management plan will recommend that as much as possible of the Custer Gallatin will be managed for "quiet" recreation and all land with wilderness characteristics will be managed as such.

Thank you.
