Comments:

American bison, a "Species of Conservation Concern", is a collaborative project dedicated to securing protection for wild buffalo, and, their habitat on "National Forests"!

Our effort is two-pronged!

First, the best available science weighs in favor of listing American bison as "a species of conservation concern" because there is "substantial concern about the species' capability to persist over the long term" on the "National Forest"! The decision belongs to Region 1's Regional Forester. (Dave Schmid is currently the interim forester)!

Allocating buffalo habitat to cattle, permitting fencing schemes that impede connectivity to habitat, and, setting up government traps are stressors, and, factors supporting the listing of American bison as "a species of conservation concern".
